HCC's new BIM Coordinator, Scott Amundson

New Employee: WELCOME SCOTT AMUNDSON!

Henry Carlson Construction has hired a BIM Coordinator, Scott Amundson. Scott started in early March. Outside of work, he spends a lot of time farming. The rest of his time is spent with his family or renovating their home. Scott also likes to hunt when he can, but says he doesn't claim to be an expert. He and his wife, Riley, have a five-month-old daughter named Axton.

Before coming to Henry Carlson Construction, Scott worked at Avera for the last three years, Falls Architecture Studio for eight years and as a carpenter for Skrovig Construction for about three years.

Scott has lived in South Dakota his whole life. His grandpa used to work as a carpenter for Henry Carlson Company in the 1960's and 1970's.

Welcome to Henry Carlson Construction Scott!

March 19, 2019 marks Henry Carlson Company's 100th birthday. It all started in 1902 when Henry Carlson, Sr. emigrated from Sweden to the United States and became a laborer, then later a skilled stonemason. In 1915, he joined William Snitkey in the general construction business. March 19, 1919, they incorporated Carlson-Snitkey Construction Company. In 1924, Henry Carlson, Sr. bought out William Snitkey and the company became Henry Carlson Company. The company grew rapidly and by the 1930's, HCC was considered one of the largest construction companies in South Dakota. In 2017, ownership of Henry Carlson Company shifted. Dave Derry, Jerry Fromm and Tom Carlson became part-owners with Chip. Today the company is named Henry Carlson Construction, LLC. Happy Birthday!
