Sanford Children's Hospital Christmas at the Castle

The tradition continues! Greg Mohr, Jim Richarz, Al Schoffelman and Chris Schoffelman assisted Sanford Health by cutting down and installing a Christmas tree to display at the Sanford Children's Hospital and one at the main hospital entrance. One tree came from Baltic, SD and the other tree came from around 16th and Sertoma in Sioux Falls, SD. Mohr said the trees were approximately 30 to 35 feet tall and weighed around 2,500 pounds.

Sanford Children's Hospital held their second annual Christmas Tree lighting ceremony November 29th. Henry Carlson Construction sponsored the event, which benefits the patients at the Children's Hospital.

Employee Spotlight: Diane Derry

I asked Henry Carlson Construction's Diane Derry a few questions about herself. Here are her answers.

Favorite Place to Travel: Rome, Italy

Current Favorite Show: Manifest

Favorite Local Store: You've Been Framed

1. Family background, where did you grow up, etc?

I'm a farm girl from Mooreton, ND! We moved to Wahpeton, ND (13 miles away) when I was 16, but my dad continued to farm. One of my older brothers still lives on the family farm today. I am the fifth oldest of eight children.

2. Job title and how long have you been at HCC?

I was at HCC-ND for two years and have been at HCC-Sioux Falls for six years as the Receptionist/Subcontractor Insurance Coordinator.

3. What do you like to do on your days off?

Spending time with our three grandkids, Kinsler (7), Hillis (4) and Karsyn Anne (1). When the weather warms up, you'll find me on my Spyder.

4. Where is the best place you've traveled to and why?

I have been fortunate to travel to many beautiful places including Hawaii, London, Monaco, Paris and Rome. I'd have to say Rome is my favorite due to the history and unbelievable architecture.

5. If you could live in any time period, which one would you choose and why?

Current. I feel blessed and content with my life where I'm at right now.

6. People would be surprised if they knew:

I own a 9mm Glock. Still need to work on my shot 😊.

7. What do you always want to try and never did?

Skydiving or Bungee Jumping

8. What is your favorite TV show?

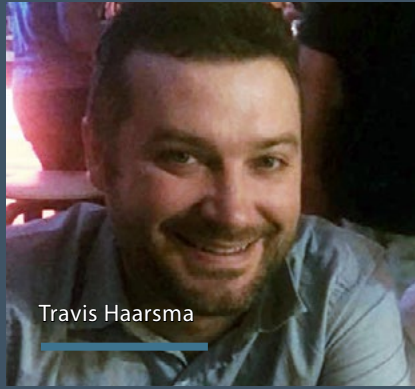

Manifest, it keeps me guessing.

9. You're a big shopper as some of us know. What is your favorite store in Sioux Falls and why? Favorite store outside of Sioux Falls and why?

In Sioux Falls: You've Been Framed. It's a cute boutique/home décor store. Great clothes and unique gifts. Outside of Sioux Falls: Nordstrom's. Never leave there empty handed.

10. What is your favorite local restaurant and what do you always order?

Chevy's or Puerto Vallarta. I usually order the beef chimichanga or chicken quesadillas.

Augustana Harve Recital Hall Featured in The Augustana Alumni Magazine

Augustana University released their Fall/Winter 2018 Alumni Magazine issue which featured a story about the Harve Recital Hall. Henry Carlson Construction renovated the recital hall this summer. The renovation included seating upgrades, new lighting, a state-of-the-art sound system with recording equipment and improved ceiling and wall acoustics.

STANDING OVATION:
The New Hamre Recital Hall

As the 1971-72 academic year began, the Augustana community was caught up in the spirit of "newness." Located just southwest of the Commons, the new Humanities Center opened to great applause with dedication ceremonies held on Founder's Day, Oct. 6.

The "Sebastian S. Kresge Recital Hall" seated 356 and included the "latest in recording and sound equipment." The hall was outfitted in the latest colors and style of the early 70s—oranges, browns and golds—in reference to the fact that we were recovering from the turmoil of the Vietnam War and the desire for peace and calm was reflected in dark woods and warm earth tones of the period.

Up until May 20, 2018, Kresge Recital Hall served as the site for more than 1,000 recitals, concerts, press conferences, meetings, lectures and more. Augustana performers, guests and attendees continued to be transported back to those warm earth tones for 47 years.

This summer, Kresge Recital Hall underwent a renovation that included seating upgrades, new lighting, a state-of-the-art sound system with recording equipment and improved ceiling and wall acoustics for sound buffering. Aesthetic renovations include blonde wood and blue accents highlighting the University's Scandinavian heritage.

Making it all possible is the Hamre family. Together, they gifted the University with a complete renovation of Kresge Recital Hall, which has now been renamed in honor of their parents, Ruth and Melvin.

Ruth and Melvin's four children, John, Victor, Anna and Susan, all attended Augustana and were involved in some form of music during their time on campus. Together they decided that the best way to honor their parents would be giving such a gift.

The renovation project stayed in family as the lead architect for the project was Chase Kramer, a 2008 August grad and member of TSP (The Spitznagel Partners).

As a former student of music, Chase had a unique understanding of the space as both a vocal and instrumental performer. "I knew it was important to keep the space flexible for the University, but also should be prioritized for its highest and best use: music. This was something echoed early on by faculty comments as well," Kramer said.

In working through the design with Augustana, Kramer and TSP helped create a clean, contemporary look while going through a wish list of updates to come up with an approach that came in on budget.

"It's great to come back and work on a project for your alma mater," he said. "We wanted to bring in wood tones but also help the space be part of the university's brand identity, so there are the requisite blue tones one might expect but no golds. All the original concrete block walls are clad with a wood-look veneer paneling to really bring the sophistication of the space up to a university level."

Consultants helped with acoustics, rigging and AV, and items such as pianos, lights and backdrops are able to move easily.

"The Hamre Recital Hall project came together beautifully," said Brad Heegel, Director of Development for the Performing and Visual Arts. "The folks from Henry Carlson Companies arrived the day of graduation and worked weekends and more through the summer to get this beautiful space completed. When it was handed over to us on August 27, it truly was a dream come true - I'm in awe every time I walk in the space. Our faculty and students join me in thanking John, Victor, Anna and Susan from the bottom of our hearts for making this possible."
