FAMILY MEMBERS THAT WORK TOGETHER

Husman Brothers

Henry Carlson Construction Companies are family-owned companies. Furthermore, within our workforce, we have the privilege of employing 17 sets of family members! In this edition, we will delve deeper into the backgrounds of Superintendents Jeff Husman and Jared Husman.

JARED HUSMAN & JEFF HUSMAN

Q Can you share a little about yourselves and your roles at the company?

A Jeff: I have a couple years on Jared, I am 42 and live in Lennox with my two kids, Rebekah and Mykah. Rebekah is off to college at USD and Mykah is a freshman in high school. I am a superintendent and am currently working on the terminal expansion side of the FSD Airport.

A Jared: I turn 40 in January. I'm a superintendent in the company and have been working on a few home builds for the last few years.

Q How did both of you end up working at HCC?

A Jeff: I applied at Henry going on 16 years ago as a carpenter with some welding and iron work experience.

A Jared: I started with Henry about six years ago, Jeff has been working here much longer. I was with Swift Contractors for about six years prior to that, and I was just ready to move onto a different company. Henry Carlson was a company I wanted to work for, and with a brother working here already, I kind of knew what to expect.

Q Did you have a close relationship growing up? How has working together impacted your bond as brothers?

A Jeff: There were six of us Husman kids growing up in a pretty busy household. Jared and I grew up close being only two years apart, so I think that correlates well into the work field. Of course, all siblings will be butt-heads at times, but we are pretty good about finding a common solution. "Figure it Out" a famous quote from our old man, Larry.

A Jared: All six of the siblings growing up had a pretty close relationship. Jeff and I were probably closest, considering we are only two years apart in age. So working together hasn't really impacted things at all.

Q Can you describe a memorable project where you collaborated together?

A Jeff: The most recent little family project was staining and painting the family cabin in the Black Hills with brother Jon. We do that every few years.

A Jared: It's interesting when we do get to work on projects together. Growing up we worked on many projects together as our father was a contractor. But I worked with him on finishes for Chip's house and then on a Rail to Road project. He worked out in Sutton Bay with me for a bit as well. So most projects we work together on are memorable in a sense.

Q What advice do you have for other family members who might work together?

A Jeff: A lot of people tell me there is no way they could work with family. If you are as fortunate as we are to have a great relationship, treasure it, not a lot of people have that opportunity.

A Jared: Enjoy it. Sometimes working with family members can be tough. We never really had many issues growing up working together, so I guess we are lucky.

Scott Holm

NEW EMPLOYEES

Please welcome our newest employees!

Scott Holm

Scott Holm joined Henry Carlson Construction as a Safety Manager.

I was a math teacher (sixth - twelfth grade) for eight years. I spent 20 plus years as a "safety" person in the general industry (seven years as the safety coordinator/training coordinator for Larson Manufacturing, 14 years as the safety engineer for 3M and one year as the safety manager for Larson Manufacturing). I graduated from Brookings High School and South Dakota State University. I have been married for 29 years to Carleen, who is an Elementary School Counselor at Dakota Prairie Elementary. I have a daughter Emily, who lives and works in Chicago as a senior product manager for PlushCare and a son Carter, who lives and works in Brookings as a third grade teacher at Dakota Prairie Elementary.

I like to golf and hunt. I attend as many SDSU football and basketball games as I can. I am also on the "chain gang" for SDSU football games (best seat in the house being on the sidelines for all the games).

What do you like about working in the construction field? I really enjoy working in the safety field because I am very passionate about protecting people.

Dessie Taylor

Dessie Taylor

Dessie Taylor joined Henry Carlson Construction as a Project Manager.

I grew up in Starke, Florida and graduated from South Dakota State University. My dad owns a concrete construction company, and I grew up working for him. For the past three years I have worked for a construction manager, building central utility plants, clean space manufacturing, and warehouse/loading docks.

Outside of work I like to ride horses, go hiking, hunting and snowboarding in the winter.

What do you like about working in the construction field? I like that every project is unique and has its own challenges, each day is something different. I like seeing the project from start to finish, as well as the relationships built during that time with the project team, subs, vendors, and the project owners.
